Notes

1. The Total Expense Ratio (TER) is a measure of the ETFs assets that have been sacrificed as payment for services rendered (allowable charges per prescribed industry standards) in the management of the ETF (the TER excludes brokerage and transactional costs), expressed as a percentage of the daily average value of the portfolio and calculated over a 12 month rolling period. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TERs.
2. The Transaction Cost is the cost incurred in the buying and selling of the underlying assets of an ETF. It is expressed as a percentage of the daily average value of the ETF and it is calculated over a 1 year period.
3. EAC is a measure of the charges that an investor will likely incur by investing in an ETF. It includes the investment management costs (TER and transaction costs), administration costs, advice costs and other costs. Our ETFs do not charge an administration or advice fees, these fees may be payable through an investment platform chosen by the investor. A schedule of management fees and transactions costs is available on request from the Manager.
4. Through index replication the fund invests in bonds only, as a result it lacks diversification into other asset classes and is sensitive to interest rates changes. The fund aims to deliver moderate growth over the medium to longer term investment horizon with minimised price volatility. However, capital losses can occur over the short term due to price volatility.
5. The performance quoted represents past performance and the Manager does not provide any guarantee with respect to capital or future returns of the ETF. Investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when sold or redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Performance data current to the most recent month end may be obtained by visiting <http://etfcib.absa.co.za>.
6. The standard deviation of the Fund's monthly returns since inception. This is a measure of how much an investment's return varies from its average over time.
7. Highest annual return represents the highest one year return of the ETF since inception.
8. Lowest annual return represents the lowest one year return of the ETF since inception.
9. Performance is calculated for the portfolio and it differs from individual investments performance due to fees.
10. The fund does not engage in securities lending.
